Charlie Fader now 100 years old

Charlie Fader, Haliburton County's oldest citizen, celebrated his 100th birthday last Thursday in Haliburton.

The Maple Lake centenarian was born on November 15, 1879 in the hamlet of Winchester, Ontario. When he was four years old, his parents moved to Maple Lake, and established a farm on which Mr. Fader worked for some time until his marriage to his late wife, Hana.

In addition to working in lumber camps, racing horses and operating a haulage company, Mr. Fader was widely known for breeding fine horses. But his main occupation was farming, a vocation he stayed with for 72 years.

Mr. Fader, who was 21 at the turn of the century, recalls the days when the automobile was called a horseless carriage, when a lumber man was paid a salary of $18 a month and when Haliburton and Minden were brand-new settlements. Some time ago, in an interview with The Echo, Mr. Fader said "you can see an awful lot in 99 years," and added that the many jobs he was involved in weren't "too bad", but you had to do something to live. You had to like it!

He has been living at Extendicare in Haliburton for the past year now, and a birthday party was thrown for him on Thursday by fellow residents, friends and family, including granddaughters Elaine Barjarow and Sheila Griffin; great granddaughter Kathy Castle, great grandson Jerry Griffin, and great great granddaughters Keri and Tanya Castle.

Mr. Fader received a telegram of congratulations from the office of the Queen, as well as from Bill Scott, MP for Victoria Haliburton, and Pauline McGibbon, Lt. Governor of Ontario.

Earlier this summer, a tree was planted in Mr. Fader's honour in Stanhope in recognition of the fact that he is the township's oldest citizen.

Summons will be issued to hotel owner

Minden noise by-law to get second test

The noise by-law charges dismissed against the Rockcliffe Hotel in Minden will be re-layed this week.

That was the decision following a closed-door session of Anson, Hindon and Minden council at their regular meeting last Wednesday.

Two charges were laid against the hotel last summer, but were dismissed in municipal court two weeks ago because defense pointed out that the summonses were issued on an improper form. Dick Schell, by-law enforcement officer for the municipality said later that the traffic forms he was using were quicker and less costly, and had always been used in the past.

The charges will now be re-layed, upon the advice of Fraser Rogers, the municipality's lawyer. Since the by-law has not been tested yet, he said he felt the municipality should "pretty well give it a try." In a letter to council, Rogers outlined two avenues the township could follow, either pursuing the case further or dropping the charges completely.

Since the matter was not "judicially presented," Rogers pointed out, and no evidence was examined, the charges were still open to re-issuing. "The charges were dismissed on the basis of improper form of service, not because there was a legal decision involved," he said.

A total of four letters of complaint were received by the municipality during the summer, as well as some "verbal" complaints to council. The charges which were laid against the hotel were issued on June 22 and 27.

The two other letters of complaint were not acted upon at the time because, said Rogers, "there wasn't much sense until we found out if the initial charges would go through or not." If, after the by-law is tested in court, convictions against the Rockcliffe are upheld, Rogers said charges may be laid again in response to the two other letters of complaint.

The summonses will be processed on a longer, more detailed form, to ensure the issue of improper serving of notice does not arise again. With the technicality now eliminated, Dick Gardner, Rockcliffe owner Dave Willis's lawyer, said in a telephone interview Friday that he already has his legal defence plan ready.

"I'm not surprised that they would prefer to pursue the matter further," said

Gardiner. "I'd prefer to argue the matter in the court of law as well."

He said the major plank in his defense against the municipality will concern the aspect of "universal application." The complaint, Gardner stated, involves "defects in the actual application of the by-law."

He questioned the by-law's ability to discriminate between institutions in the municipality which are exempted from the conditions. "Why should a by-law apply to one institution and not others? There are certain institutions in Minden that aren't discriminated against."

Gardiner used the recent rock concerts held at the Minden Community centre as an example, and stated that the events held a "ticket of immunity." A private entrepreneur such as Willis, "has no immunity, but his customers weren't accused of breaking police cruiser windows," Gardner said.

He said the case is similar to a "civil rights type of an argument." Gardner said he phoned other lawyers around the province who have dealt with the noise by-laws within other townships and municipalities.

"We're only one of two or three prosecutions going on around the province," he said.

Gardiner will supplement his argument by attacking the lack of a precise definition of the word "noise."

He will question the degree of noise and what, exactly, "too much" noise is, as well as semantics involved in the charges.

Rogers, on the other hand, said he will point out to the court that Willis is not, in fact, being charged with creating "excessive noise," but rather with causing the emission of a noise under section 3.4 of the by-law.

The by-law states that "no person shall emit or cause or permit the emission of sound resulting from ... the operation of any electronic device or group of connected electronic devices incorporating one or more loudspeakers or other electro-mechanical transducers, and intended for the production, reproduction or amplification of sound." The restrictions as laid down in the by-law state that the sounds are restricted from 12 midnight to 9 a.m.

Rogers said the summons will be issued to Willis "as soon as possible."

Ministry satisfied with work, Minden curlers can use rink

Curlers in Minden will be able to use the curling arena for at least one more winter, without having to worry about the roof falling in.

The arena was monitored last winter as a result of Ministry of Labour findings that the roof had weakened over the years, and could not withstand heavy burdens of snow. The municipality was charged with monitoring the roof and removing any accumulation that would put undue stress on the structure.

This summer, the club and the municipality effected temporary repairs on the building by installing two lag screws in the weakened beams. A consulting engineer inspected the structure on October 31st, and sent a full report to the Ministry.

The Ministry replied at last week's council meeting by stating that the "letter of November 1 from your consulting engineer outlining the safe load on your building and other precautions has been accepted as meeting the requirements to permit the safe operation of your building for the winter of 1979-80."

The roof can now support a weight of five pounds per square foot, and the wind velocity as stipulated in the Ontario Building Code.

Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School was invaded by floor hockey players last weekend, as the annual Lake Kashagwigamog Tourist Association floor hockey tournament was held.

Petition stymies liquor licence hopes, Extendicare residents will try again

The residents of Haliburton's Extendicare nursing home have decided to apply for a liquor licence for the facility. Application will be made to Liquor Licensing Board of Ontario within the next few weeks, according to the home's administrator, Sheila Elston.

Elston said the original application was withdrawn on the advice of an LLBO inspector after a petition against the licensing was initiated by individuals in the community. The inspector said that because the application was not being made by someone who needed the licence for a livelihood, it would likely have been rejected by the board on the strength of the petition.

Only one other Extendicare has a permanent licence, Elston said, but permits for special occasions are commonly obtained. She said other nursing homes in the province have successfully applied for permanent licences. The extended care unit at Sunnybrook Hospital also has a permanent licence, she said, citing a recent information is needed for the feasibility study. Nesbitt said he was concerned that the study may be taking too long to complete, and that if the municipality wanted to take advantage of possible government funding for winter works programs this winter, then "the thing should be moved along." "I think we've got to be geared for the winter works money," he said. "We can't stand over the library forever."

Council wants study completed

Anson, Hindon and Minden reeve Sinc Nesbitt wants to see the feasibility study for the Minden library/art gallery complex "moved along so we (the municipality) can get going on it."

Nesbitt made the comment to Dr. Agnes Jamieson, spokesman for the library/art gallery committee, at a council meeting last Wednesday. Dr. Jamieson attended council to seek permission to send two of the proposed gallery's paintings to Toronto to have their value appraised. The deadline set for the study, Dr. Jamieson told council that "we're pushing as fast as we can," and that the appraisal information is the final factor needed to complete the document.

Nesbitt noted that the study should be finished in time to meet winter works deadline, and work on the structure should begin sometime in the spring.

Jamieson was granted permission to have two of the paintings appraised.

Statistics on crime rate, response time given to council

Breakins down, Dysart told

A total of 230 breakins were reported in Haliburton County up to the end of last month, compared to 296 for all of 1978 and 443 for the 12 months of 1977.

The figures, along with other statistics related to crime and police protection, were presented to Dysart et al council at a meeting last Tuesday.

OPP constable Wim Magee attended the meeting to answer questions on policing that came in the wake of incidents of vandalism in Haliburton Village two weeks ago. Four businesses suffered extensive damage in those incidents and an Oshawa area man was subsequently charged.

Of the 230 breakins reported up to the end of October, 35 involved businesses, 182 involved residences, and 13 were classed as "other," Magee told council. In 1978, 31 businesses were broken into, along with 259 residences and six in the "other" category. Figures for 1977 recorded 42 business breakins, 384 residential breakins and 17 classed as "other."

Magee also provided council with comparisons of breakins, thefts, and crime solutions for specific monthly periods in 1978 and 1979.

From January to March of 1978, 40 breakins were reported. This year 33 breakins were reported for the same period, a decline of 17.5 percent. Thefts were down by 17.2 percent for the same period this year compared to last year. The average clearance solution rate for all crimes over the three month period this year was 47.4 percent.

From April through June 1978, 92 breakins were reported, while 82 were reported for the same period this year, a drop of 10.9 percent. Thefts for the period were up 10.3 percent this year, and the clearance rate for all crimes was 50 percent.

Over the three month period from May through July 31 this year, some 104 breakins were reported, 9.6 percent fewer than last year, when 115 breakins were investigated. Thefts, however, were up 10 percent. (The theft category includes theft under $200., theft over $200., and motor vehicle thefts). The overall clearance rate for the May to July 31 period this year was 51.4 percent, which is considered "good" Magee said.

Statistics on the number of calls directed to the OPP between 3 a.m. and 7 a.m. (when no officers from the Minden detachment are on duty) were also presented at the meeting.

During the three month period from December 1, 1978 to February 28, 1979, a total of 493 calls were handled by officers from the Minden detachment. Of these, 13 will be staying at the home of Lorne Coburn of Minden. They will then be located at a rented furnished house in Cobocook on Highway #35, where they will live until December 1. After that, there is a possibility that they could move to another rented home in the village of Minden. The committee is expected to make a decision on the situation this week.

Coburn said Tuesday that the refugees "have only a Chinese/Cantonese dialect as far as we know," and it is unknown if they can speak any English.

"We've got a pretty good idea of what we're supposed to do," said Coburn. "I don't think there's any great urgency to get started in finding them work. The main thing now is to get them settled."

Few details are known about the family's background, but Reverend Miller said the committee expects to have a "full briefing" this week on the situation. A meeting of the regional immigration officer, various local officials connected with the social planning council and local sponsors is scheduled to take place in Haliburton, Thursday night to discuss the settlement and integration of the refugees in Haliburton and Minden.

For the first night, according to committee chairman, Rev. Doug Miller, the family came between 3 a.m. and 7 a.m., Magee said. Some 21 percent of the 493 calls resulted in an officer on the scene in 15 minutes or less. A further 8 percent were handled within 20 minutes, and a total of 59 percent were handled in 30 minutes or less. In 68 percent of all calls, an officer was on the scene in an hour or less, Magee told

Included in the statistics are calls where there is little or no urgency, Magee said. As an example, he cited cottage break-ins where owners frequently arrange to meet an officer at a specific time long after the initial calls come to the detachment.

Between March 1 and May 31 of this year, 577 calls were handled by Minden detachment officers. Ten of those came in between 3 a.m. and 7 a.m. Of the total, 21 percent were handled in 20 minutes or less, a further five percent in 30 minutes or less, and a total of 42 percent in one hour or less.

From January 1 to August 31 this year, 1175 calls were received. Twenty three of these came between 3 a.m. and 7 a.m. Twenty four percent of all calls were handled in five minutes or less, a further five percent in ten minutes or less, a further 13 percent in 15 minutes or less, a further six percent in 20 minutes or less, a total of 52 percent in 30 minutes or less, with 57 percent of all calls being handled in 60 minutes or less.

Council took no action at the meeting, but the matter of police protection is expected to be considered at a meeting of county council this Wednesday. Indication are that county council will consider requesting that the Minden detachment staff be increased from its present complement of 23 constables and administrators, and that shifts be altered to cover a full 24 hours.

Gallery gets alarm system

The alarms will be installed by G.P.S. Alarm Systems of Mississauga, "hopefully within the next two weeks" according to assistant clerk Derrell Stamp.

Cost of the installation at the Ralls End Gallery will be $1,877.50. Cost for the museum will be $2,352.50. Both amounts will be partially met by Wintario grants under the category of permanent equipment.

The alarms will automatically notify police if a break-in occurs at either location.

The moose population in Ontario is on the decline — 35% fewer today than in 1965 — and we're looking for your views.

The moose is a valuable natural resource to the people of Ontario. To many, just being able to see this proud animal in his native habitat is in itself an unparalleled thrill. To others, the thrill is in the hunt.

There are many possible solutions to the problem of our declining moose population. If you wish to hear of them, comment on them or make suggestions of your own, plan to attend one of the Ministry's public discussion meetings.

Seniors students at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School have been looking into their future with the help of a computer terminal recently installed at the school. The terminal is linked to a central computer in Toronto, and provides information on career opportunities and post secondary education. Here John Fedeski operates the keyboard while Dennis Stribling searches for code numbers and Eric Milburn keeps a close eye on the proceedings.

Computer gives students the chance to look into their future

Choosing a career is seldom easy, but for students at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, the choice may prove to be just a little bit simpler this year. The reason is a computer terminal which was recently installed in the school. Linked to a computer at the Ministry of Education offices in Toronto, the terminal can provide students with information on close to 6000 careers, and on the post secondary institutions that provide the skills and knowledge required to get started on one of those careers. The terminal is an experimental project financed by the Ministry. It is one of five that have been placed in secondary schools around the province this year on a rotating basis.

For the rest of the school year, local students will enjoy the benefits of computer technology to help them choose what they'll do when their four or five year stay at the school comes to an end. And though the machine has been operative for barely a week, it is already proving its usefulness.

HHSS guidance head Ken Rydman says there are two main advantages to the terminal. The first is speed. Without the terminal, students who want information on specific careers and on specific post secondary institutions must find it with the help of a guidance teacher. It can take hours to find information on requirements for a particular career or for a Extencare Limited paid the $180 cost for the first application. Cost of the present application will be met by the residents council.

If there is "a lot of opposition" to the application it probably will be shelved, Elston said. However, she did not rule out the possibility of arguing the residents case in front of the board if there are public objections to the second application.

If the application is turned down at the hearing stage, the $180 application fee is lost.

A letter was received from Bishop and Rogers, Barristers and Solicitors relative to an infraction of Noise Control By-law 78-51, and council formed a committee of the whole.

Adults weren't the only people seeking Christmas presents at the Wilberforce Minor Hockey bazaar Saturday; Tammy and Robin Lee looked over the merchandise in the toy section with visions of that jolly old man in mind.

Keep it in perspective

Two weeks ago, incidents of vandalism caused extensive damage to four Haliburton Village businesses. Since then, questions about the adequacy of police protection for the area have remained in the public eye.

While there is no question that police protection is a significant public issue in which all county residents have a stake, it is an issue which must be kept in perspective. Whenever criminal activities take place in a small community, people have a tendency to attribute a magnitude to them that may not in fact be realistic. The vandalism that occurred in the village was serious, of course, and it has been both expensive and inconvenient for its victims. Yet the fact that it occurred does not indicate that crime is reaching epidemic proportions in the community, or that some fundamental respect for property is lacking among a large number of people, or that police protection for the village is not as good as citizens of the community have a right to expect. Though serious, the vandalism could well have been much worse. Though respect for private property may indeed be waning, no outside agency is to blame. And though in an ideal world there might be a policeman on every street corner to keep all of us safe, in the real world of Haliburton County, the standards of police protection are adequate.

Statistics provided by the OPP to Dysart council indicate that only a small number of calls are received between 3 a.m. and 7 a.m., when local detachment constables are not on duty. They also indicate that breakins are down from last year, and down markedly from the year before. The clearance (or solution) rate for local crimes is also high. A suspect was in custody less than two days after the most recent vandalism incident. Of 28 business breakins that have occurred in Haliburton Village over the last two years, 23 of them have resulted in charges to individuals.

These statistics indicate that the local OPP detachment is indeed providing the kind of service to the community that the community has a right to expect. Of course the level of protection could be raised. Councils could enter into contractual agreements with the OPP to have a man on the street throughout the night. Such contracts are costly, but they have been drawn up in other communities in the province. Staff at the local detachment could also be increased to put more men on the road, and more men in the villages and hamlets of the county at any given time. That too, would be costly, and may not be justifiable.

A better solution may be to consider different scheduling arrangements and patrol patterns to keep officers close to places of business, especially during the evening hours, when the majority of breakins and vandalism incidents occur.

Working together, the local OPP and area councils should be able to come up with solutions that will ease current concerns about crime in the county. In the meantime, however, it should be recognized that the situation is far from desperate, and that existing police protection is not wholly inadequate.

Respect their rights

The residents of Haliburton's Extencicare recently made a decision that no doubt will raise the eyebrows, if not the ire, of some members of the community. Collectively, the home's residents have decided to proceed with an application for a permanent liquor licence. The decision marks the second time the possibility of a licence for the facility has surfaced. Last year, a similar application was withdrawn before a Liquor Licensing Board of Ontario hearing could be called. The withdrawal came in the wake of pressure from a small number of people who apparently believed a licence for the home was inappropriate. No such pressure should be brought to bear against this second attempt.

The fact that the residents want to see the facility licenced does not mean that they want to see it become a tavern for the elderly. Nor does it mean that non residents will be able to walk in off the street and order a drink. On the contrary, both the availability and the consumption of liquor would be strictly controlled. Envisioned is a social gathering two or three times a week during which those residents who wished to enjoy a bottle of beer or a drink could do so. A doctor's permission would be required, and consumption would be strictly limited. Even the most adamant anti-liquor lobbyist could hardly see such an arrangement as unreasonable.

If Extencicare were to be licenced for liquor, it would mean no more than that the home's residents would have the right to enjoy a drink in a social setting from time to time, the same right all other citizens of the community enjoy. And like the rest of the community, the home's residents would retain the right not to drink.

Small and vocal minorities often attempt to impose their will on others. It is to be hoped that does not happen in this case. The residents of Extencicare have decided they want a liquor licence. The community should respect their decision.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

RE: Feir Play Column - November 14, 1979
Our company's records show a healthy increase in volume, over last year, for sales in Haliburton County. I would strongly suggest that in the future Creighton Feir check with more reliable sources prior to making such a profound statement as "For the past several months local Real Estate salesmen have been saying that houses are just not moving here in Haliburton County." We do have a Real Estate Board in Haliburton County and had you taken the time to check you would have discovered that the industry is quite healthy. I am sure that a further check with the local law offices and the registry office in Minden would have confirmed that people are still buying and selling in our county despite all the gloomy reasons for not doing so as reported in your column. Come on Creighton let's be a little more positive! To those real estate salesmen who have been saying nothing much is happening, I guarantee nothing much will ever happen for them. They should consider applying their talent in some other field of endeavour and should not be considered as a barometer for our profession.

Lynn Craigmyle,
Haliburton, Ont.

To the Editor:

I would like to express my feelings about hunting deer, partridge, moose, etc. I don't think it is fair to the animals. They are just like us and feel the same when they find out their mother, father, sister or brother has been shot by some thoughtless person. I can see people hunting back in the early 1900's when they needed food, feathers, and furs to keep them warm and alive, but it isn't necessary now. I feel very sad and upset when hunting season comes. I dread the sight of a deer that is dead or moose, thinking that it too had a family just like me. Also I think about a poor deer or anything else, who has just lost its life when I hear a gun shot. Soon our beautiful animals will not exist.

Yours truly,
Emma Postlethwaite

When the time comes to pick a hobby or a recreation or a passion, pick something that isn't affected by the whims of weather. I didn't, and I'm beginning to regret it. I could have chosen woodworking or weaving or squash or bridge or bingo or painting or any one of a thousand things you can do indoors, 365 days a year. Instead, I picked scuba diving. That means that when the sun is shining, the wind is still and the weather is warm, I can satisfy my yen to be under the water just about as often as I like. But when the weather turns nasty and the ice crystals begin to collect on my favourite lakes, I am desolate. Hockey and skiing help take the edge off my restlessness, but to a committed underwater enthusiast, nothing else will really do.

The magazines published for people like me know all about the snowbound diver's doldrums. They're full of suggestions to help you get through the hard times. They advise you to stay in shape. Swim, they say, at your local pool. Sure. Take a refresher course on diving at the nearest YMCA. Uh huh. Grit your teeth, find some hardy (or crazy) friends, cut a hole in the ice and enjoy the wonders of ice diving. People are reported to have done it and lived to tell about it, even if their regulator did freeze up and begin to free flow. They are even reported to have enjoyed it. I'm skeptical about it though, and I think I can live without seeing how the world looks from under three feet of ice.

Best of all is to take a vacation down south the magazines say. They're full of gorgeous photographs of happy divers cavorting among the coral reefs of the Bahamas or Bonaire. It's a great idea too, but I don't think I'll make it this year. I'll have to get through the winter in the same way I did last year. Every once in a while, when the urge to dive gets overwhelming, I'll dig out my equipment, spread it out on the livingroom floor, and look at it. I might even attach my regulator to a tank and take a breath or two, just to hear that musical whistling sound, taste the rubber of the mouthpiece, and feel the dry, pure, filtered air inflate my lungs.

It's not as good as the real thing of course, but with luck it will keep me from being foolish enough to buy a ticket to Nassau or Freeport. And if I ever get tired of diving, I'll pick something more suited to the Canadian climate, something you can do all year round. It would be better in the end.

Feir Play

Although the evacuation from Mississauga of 240,000 people last week threatened by a chlorine gas cloud was the largest peace time movement of people in Canada, and comparable in numbers to the World War II evacuation of Dunkirk, it was marked by a calmness and co-operation that made rescuers want to wave the flag. According to a write up in the Toronto Star, "People could have refused to leave their homes, could have hassled us and wasted time arguing," Sgt. Robert Balch of Peel Regional police said. "Instead they co-operated right down the line. We couldn't have forced them out of their homes - but it never came near being a question of that." I personally know many people from Haliburton County who now live in Mississauga and had to leave their homes. Among these were my brother-in-law and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Rennick and their two children. I also thought of the hundreds of people who live in Mississauga and have cottages here in the Highlands of Haliburton. Yes, I am sure that you also know several people who come from that community and whom you must have been thinking about when this disaster took place. We were also surprised to see that many of the Toronto Maple Leaf hockey players reside in Mississauga, and their families were among the 250,000 residents forced out of the area by the recent train derailment. Darryl Sittler, Dave Williams, Lanny McDonald, Paul Harrison, Paul Gardner, Dave Hutchison, Dan Maloney, Joel Quenneville and Laurie Boschman are some Leafs who reside in the evacuation area.

It was pleasing to note that Clyde Gray, who now makes his home at Cameron, Ontario, near Lindsay, regained his Commonwealth title with a 10th round TKO over Chris Clarke of Halifax last Tuesday evening.

We have received some complaints recently from visitors coming into Haliburton and having problems locating the historic "Harburn Wells." Direction signs have been posted along the route from Haliburton to the Wells but apparently some people are still getting lost and having problems in locating them. The Harburn Wells are well worth seeing and it's just another project of the Kinsmen Club of Haliburton. Make it a date now if you have never seen them.

This Thursday evening, November 22, the Rotary Club of Haliburton will be having a joint meeting with the other service clubs in town at 6:30 p.m. in the Legion Hall.

I had a letter recently from Ray Upton, a former resident of Eagle Lake, who now lives at Estevan, Saskatchewan. He said in the letter that he noticed in the Echo that we had out first snow last recently and it made him think how lucky we are in Haliburton County where they get right out when the storm is on to plough the roads and highways. Ray says that in Saskatchewan they don't plough roads until after the storms are over. He went on to say that they don't put salt on the roads in Estevan, Saskatchewan and that the cars stay in much better condition. He is employed by the Saskatchewan Power Company.

We seem to have a group of people here in Haliburton County who get their kicks out of dragging people down instead of trying to lift them up. This is all wrong and not the Christian thing to do. It's very easy to kick a person when they are down. Let's all of us this week make it a point to help someone out who is in need of help and instead of seeing all of their bad points, look on the other side of the ledger and pick out their good points. Everyone needs a little uplifting, so let's try to lift them up. You will receive a great deal of satisfaction by doing this.

Parents' Night will be held at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School in Haliburton tonight (Wednesday, November 21, from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.)

Every year around this time in advertisements and window displays we see the word Christmas taken down to the short form of Xmas. This is something that is wrong and when we take Christ out of Christmas what have we got left? We are getting away from the real meaning of Christmas and as well all know it is becoming too commercialized.

"A year ago," Norma Dell Agnese of Toronto was saying, "you were on your hands and knees for auditions and then, all of a sudden, people are asking for you and calling you 'star'." This all came about when the petite redhead landed her first professional role ever, as Brenda in Meatballs last year.

The annual Bantam Hockey Tournament is scheduled for the arena in Haliburton on Saturday, December 8. The winners will receive the Clayton W. Hodgson Memorial Trophy and the consolation winners will receive the R. Glen Hodgson Trophy. The teams that will take part in the tournament and the times they will play are as follows: 8:30 a.m. Dorset Park vs. Haliburton - 9:30 a.m. Minden vs. Peterborough - 10:30 a.m. Thornton vs. Guelph - 11:30 a.m. Oshawa vs. Gravenhurst.

During the past year the question has been thrown around as for the need of a Big Brother's organization in Haliburton County. We think that there is a desperate need for one but it is going to take one of the organizations to lead it off.

The local merchants in Haliburton County now have their stores decorated for the holiday season and some of the window displays look just beautiful. This all means that Christmas is not far off. Inside the stores decorations also abound.

It's Christmas Open House time again at Campbell's Garden Centre and Flower Shop in Minden. It will run for four days starting today, Wednesday, November 21 and will run through until this Saturday, November 24.

Mr. James Edmund Finlay is shown here near the siding by the old I.B. & O. Railroad at Tory Hill. The railroad was built through the village about 1893 and demolished in 1960. Pulpwood, lumber, railway ties and cattle were shipped from Tory Hill and commodities brought in by rail during that time. Seen are the box cars and the ramp for loading cattle.

Mr. Finlay first came to Tory Hill back in 1897 to work in the shingle mill operated by his wife's father, Mr. John H. Anderson, a pioneer who settled in Monmouth Twp. in 1883. It was at Tory Hill where he first met his bride, the former Maude Anderson. The couple were married in 1901 and first settled in Cobocok, moving to Burnt River some time later. Here Mr. Finlay operated a saw mill in a partnership until 1908 when the family moved to Tory Hill where Mr. Finlay took over the Anderson General Store. In 1910 this building was destroyed by fire but was rebuilt soon after. As well as the store, Mr. Finlay kept the post office and operated a saw mill. He was a staunch supporter of the Conservative cause. During his years in Tory Hill he served at one time on the County Council and was reeve of Monmouth Twp. He also served as County Magistrate for Haliburton County for a number of years. Mr. Finlay will always be remembered for his generosity and kindness to those with whom he came in contact during the years of his life here in Tory Hill. He died of an apparent heart attack in 1955 at the age of seventy-six. Our thanks to Mrs. Maurine M. Finlay for submitting this photo.

Report from Queen's Park

by MPP John Eakins

Last Thursday evening I took part in the debates in the Legislature on an acid rain report, and I will have more details in the next week or so.

In the meantime, Huron-Bruce MPP Murray Gaunt told a committee of the Legislature that his constituents are up in arms over the efforts of the Ministry of Natural Resources to stock Lake Huron with splake, a cross between speckled trout and lake trout. "Natives are restless," he told the Minister. "The Grey-Bruce area has been deserted by anglers. You might just as well be out there fishing for passenger pigeons - you just can't find these fish. You spent 20 years and a lot of money to find a fish which could survive the lamprey ... but they seem to disappear out of the bottom of the lake."

In an interview, Mr. Gaunt said that the tourist industry has suffered serious harm from poor angling. His sentiments are, he said, supported by other MPPs whose constituencies adjoin the lake. Residents of Lake Huron and Georgian Bay tourist areas watch with cynicism as the Ministry stocks Lake Ontario with desirable lake trout which can't be eaten because the lakes are polluted.

I am sure many people in our Victoria-Haliburton riding watched with interest the conference on oil pricing. It would appear that Premier Davis failed to persuade the First Ministers' Conference to hold on oil price hikes. Addressing the conference, the Premier stepped up his defence of the Canadian consumer, and insisted that his position reflected national concerns. "I believe," he said, "that the Canadian people are running out of patience with the line that they have been living wildly beyond their means. Perhaps our governments have, but our families certainly have not." He indicated that Ontarians are prepared to pay what is necessary to achieve self-sufficiency in oil, but any further increases would have the effect of a massive tax increase.

Liberal Leader Stuart Smith said the Premier's performance at the Conference "was successful neither from the point of view of getting redistribution of the benefits of such increases. 'Ontario has not succeeded in persuading a single province to our point of view - not even the poorer consuming provinces.'" "We can expect that he'd have trouble convincing the oil-producing provinces. But when he can't even get an ounce of support from the eastern provinces, it's incredible. He had nothing to show the Prime Minister or the other provinces in terms of conservation policies, or an industrial strategy to create new jobs and to keep the economy moving in these very tough times."

It would appear to me that the last word has not yet been spoken in the oil pricing debate, as it would appear as of the time of my writing this report, that Mr. Loughheed and Mr. Clark are still a little distance apart.

Report from Parliament

by Bill Scott MP

Some time in the spring, Quebecers will be asked in a province-wide referendum to give to the Government of Quebec the mandate to negotiate a "new deal" between Quebec and the rest of Canada, an arrangement the P.Q. Government calls "sovereignty-association."

On November 1, the Quebec Government published its White Paper on Sovereignty-Association, (subtitled "a proposal for a new partnership between equals"), in which it outlined in more detail than it has previously made public exactly what it means by sovereignty-association.

The White Paper proposes that Quebec should become a sovereign state and claim for itself all the powers of a sovereign state, and that the present Federal system in Quebec be replaced by an association with the rest of Canada. The emergence of Quebec as a sovereign state and the form that this association with Canada should take will be the result of negotiations between Quebec and Canada.

A sovereign Quebec will have the sole power to levy all taxes, to make all laws, and to be present on the international scene in any way it wishes. The only laws that will apply in Quebec territory will be those of Quebec's National Assembly and the only taxes that will be levied will be those decreed by Quebec. Quebec will retain any existing Federal

Bill Smiley

Two or three years ago, I swore I'd never write another column about Remembrance Day. I'd milked every emotion, flattened every cliché, and I thought perhaps it was time to let it fade away, as old soldiers never do.

However, I reckoned without our vice-principal. Each year, for the past three or four, as Remembrance Day approaches, he sidles up and wonders "if I could have a minute of your time?" That means he wants something.

If he wanted to bowl me out, he'd probably say, "Mr. Smiley, I'd like to see you in my office at 3:45." When I reported at that time, he'd likely give me the blast, in front of witnesses, and I'd tell him to go to hell, or shove it where the sun never shines, or something equally vicious and vulgar. Vice-principals do not easily upset old fighter pilots.

But when Dave gives me the old soft soap and asks if I could do something about a Remembrance Day programme for the school, I get all soft and gooey and I'm off to your regular classes."

When I joined the high school staff, there were plenty of veterans of World War II. A bomber pilot or two, a navigator, a radar man, some air force ex-technicians, and a rabble of former navy and army types. Nowadays, I'm just about the oldest veteran on the staff, so I'm stuck with Remembrance Day hokum. The oldest veteran is a German, who fought in the North Africa campaign, was wounded, and spent the rest of the war in a prison camp in the States.

It would hardly do to have him talking to students about "our sacrifices in two great world wars." He might get carried away and say something like, "If it hadn't been for that maniac, Hitler, we would have kicked the stuffing out of you."

So I'm stuck with it. For a few years, we had a full period programme, with the students making it up. They were awful. Full of folk songs like, "Where have all the soldiers gone?", and the local Legion marching around on the stage of the cafeteria getting all tangled up in their flags, and the reading of a List of the Fallen.

For the kids, it was a period of school, and a sort of bewilderment about what these crazy adults had been up to, in a time of which they knew nothing.

So we gradually cut it down. The Last Post was eliminated. I gave such an anti-war talk at one of these sessions that even the students were startled.

For the last two years, I've been asked to write a two or three minute "message" about Remembrance Day, full of meaning, poignancy and sentiment.

I'd never give an assignment like that to a student. It would be like asking them to give a summary of the Bible in 200 words.

However, I'm going to do it again this year, because I am soft in the head, or something. Let us hope that next year, the thing will be reduced to an announcement: "We will now honour our war dead with one minute's silence. On the sound of the bleep, shut up for one minute. Then go to your regular classes."

Here is a sample of what I write. It is spoken into a mike by a student who doesn't know how to use a microphone and has a bad cold. This is last year's bit.

"When you are young, life is forever. When you are old, death sits grinning and nodding at your elbow."

"Hundreds of thousands of young Canadians sneered at that old witch, Death, and offered their most precious possessions, themselves, to the bullets and the shrapnel, the mortars and the cannon. They didn't say to themselves, 'I'm going to die so that the students of Blank Secondary School can have gravy on their french fries.'"

"They didn't say much of anything. They just went off to fight against something they thought was evil."

"Most of them were just kids, two or three years older than you are. They had the same hang-ups you have: bad marks in math; frustrated love; uncertainty about the future."

"Maybe they weren't too bright. Maybe they should have said, 'I ain't gonna get killed in some stupid war over in Europe."

"Maybe. But they went. And they were killed, in their thousands. So that you can have gravy on your french fries. And a lot of other things you take for granted."

"Most of us don't want to leave the world without making some little mark on it. Every human being is a precious thing. Whatever you do, you will leave something of yourself behind, even if it is only dust."

"Those young fellows who were killed in France and Holland and Italy didn't have much chance of leaving anything behind."

"But they left a memory. Once a year, on Remembrance Day, we take a silent moment to think about those laughing boys - and most of them were boys - who went across the ocean so that we could have freedom of speech, open elections, letters to the editor and gravy on our french fries."

What in the world am I going to write this year?

Bus operators must keep logs

School bus operators will be required to keep daily inspection logs of their vehicles beginning January 1. The new regulation was announced by James Snow, provincial minister of Transportation.

Purpose of the new regulation, according to Snow, is to ensure that there is a daily check of school purposes vehicles in addition to the comprehensive semi-annual inspections that are already required.

Under the new regulation, each school bus will be equipped with a log book containing the vehicle identification number, make, model, year and a list of the items to be inspected.

Drivers will be required to

Shop Here for Christmas

Recently you have seen, we expect, some of the advertisements by the Canadian Government encouraging people to buy Canadian. This, of course, is an attempt to help correct the deficit in the countries' balance of payments which can have a major effect on our economy.

Haliburton County has a deficit in our balance of payments also. During the peak tourist season the balance is heavily in our favour; but this time of year the economy is rapidly draining in the other direction. We of course are not self sufficient, and cannot avoid much of this money flowing out of the county, but where there is a choice we should wherever possible do our part to offset the deficit. If we make a concerted effort to do the bulk of our Christmas Shopping right here at home we are helping the local economy and in turn ourselves. Not only is there an excellent assortment of Christmas gifts available in local stores, but taking it a step farther there is even a good selection of locally manufactured items available from our ever increasing local craft industry. Your friends and relatives will appreciate the gift that identifies with the Highlands.

Further Along the 45th

We often get letters from students in various parts of Canada and the U.S., but last week we received one that we found particularly interesting. Warm Springs, Oregon, like ourselves, sits exactly half way between the equator and the north pole on the 45th parallel. We will be sending them some information on the Haliburton area but it occurred to us that if this interesting letter were reprinted here, some of you may wish to drop them a line. Here's the letter:

Dear Neighbour:

We live on the 45th parallel in Oregon. We all go to school at the Simnasho Grade School. We have first, second, third and fourth grades all in one classroom. We have 13 students in our class, one teacher, one Indian language teacher/teacher's aide, one cook and one bus driver.

We like to exercise, (we are going to have a 2nd annual 14.5 mile mini-marathon in March) do our school work and have 4-H after school.

We are writing to communities located on the 45th parallel. We hope to find out about your town, jobs, weather, schools, nationalities, religions and countryside.

Simnasho is on the Warm Springs Indian Reservation. About 25 people live in Simnasho. Many of us ride the bus over 25 miles to school. Our teacher lives next door to the school. Our parents work at a lumber mill in the town of Warm Springs, at the Kah-Nee-Ta Resort Lodge, at the grocery store in Warm Springs (Macy's Store and Post Office), and for the Warm Springs Confederated Tribes.

Our weather changes a lot. Sometimes it is sunny and hot (100 degrees F plus) and sometimes it is cold (-20 degrees F). Last year we had 3 feet of snow for awhile.

Some of are tribal members and some of us are not. We all live on the Reservation. The Reservation covers over 600,000 acres of land. Some of the land is rocky, some is forest, some is flat, and some is mountainous. We live close to Mt. Hood and Mt. Jefferson.

We would like you to send us some information about you and your community. Maybe you could also give this letter to a nearby school. We hope to start writing to people our own ages. Thank you.

COUNTY ECHO SPORTS

Eye on Sports

by Joe Banks

The televisions are all repaired, the parties have been, for the most part, organized and the beer and liquor stores are starting to wind up for that annual Canadian sports extravaganza, the Grey Cup.

For most, it's simply an excuse to have a party, to celebrate a tradition that has come to be as Canadian as the beaver. But for some, a minority, I believe, it's a chance to release the football fanaticism that has built up inside them since the beginning of the season.

These people aren't difficult to spot, if you know what to look for, and if you're seeking a bit of fun during next weekend, whether it be in the stands or at home during a party, then pick out a Grey Cup monomaniac and casually observe his intriguing characteristics.

The first hint is in the eyes. More often than not, they'll be bloodshot from staying up late at night waiting for the west coast conference scores to come in on the late news, or from watching endless hours of games on a colour television. Bags under the eyes are also testimony to these habits.

If he speaks to himself while watching the game, he's probably in the first stages of "Grey Cupitis", that deadly virus that infects football fanatics when their own team is losing. A childhood prayer could suddenly be remembered, or some new swear word may be introduced into the English language, laying to rest the myth that football fans don't emit dirty words, but rather only throw things at the T.V.

If he smokes, stay clear of him. When the game is at its climax, he becomes a one-man Los Angeles, filling the room with a filthy smog that doesn't go away until the game is over, or until everyone passes out. In the stands, he's easier to control, as the Ministry of Environment will usually send in a pollution curtailment task force to halt his destructive potential. Evidence may some day show that lakes in north-central Ontario become the most acidified the week after Grey Cup day.

Note his actions when his team scores a touchdown. For years, scientists have been puzzled as to why Grey Cup fanatic's movements after a goal significantly resembles the fertility dance of the ancient Zuzi-Zuzi tribe of South Africa. It's a mystery that may never be solved.

But there is one characteristic that is indisputably the mark of a true fan infected with "Grey Cupitis." It has, in fact, been used as the base mark for measuring the level of fanaticism in these unusual and highly fascinating people.

He's the only person watching the game ...

... The Haliburton Huskies have been playing some good hockey lately, and if these first four games are any indication, then I'd judge we're going to see a better and more formidable team this year than last. Along with last year's big guns such as Joe Roberts, Chris Hodgson, Steve Davies, Dave Brown and Kevin O'Hara, the Huskies have picked up some rookies who seem to be doing well so far such as Mike Rae, Brian Lloyd and Kevin Marshall, a right winger acquired from the Wilberforce Midgets. The games so far on home ice have been well worth the cost of admission, and if the team continues on with their effective and entertaining style of play, the Dysart arena just may see a surge in fans in the coming months...

...And while on the subject, the Haliburton Minor Hockey and Haliburton Huskies draw for 12

The Huskies avenged their loss against Bewdley last week on Saturday night at the Dysart arena when they defeated the visitors by a score of 8 to 5. Here, Chris Hodgson (12) and Ed Roberts attempt to slide the puck behind the Bewdley goaltender.

Harry Henderson dominates in Wednesday bowling

The dominant bowler in the Wednesday Afternoon Bowling League last week was Harry Henderson with a triple of 713, and singles of 208, 252 and 253.

Flo Henderson wound up with a 669, with singles of 146, 294 and 229, while Muriel Peters bowled a close 651, with singles of 239, 219 and 193. Linda Morrison came up with a 619 triple for singles of 203, 140 and 270. Garnet Fagan rolled a 608 and triples of 170, 186 and 252, and Debbie Allin had a 601 triple with singles of 174, 138 and 289.

Single games over 200 were bowled by Ray Knapp with 257, Lil Gorveatt with 233, Caryl Harrison with 230, Gord Bennett with 226, Laura Fagan with 209 and Bill Barber with 205.

In the team standings, the Go-Go Girls are in first place with 33 points, the Long Shots are taking up second with 33 points, and the Oh Shites are in third with 29 points. The Crawlers are up this week with 26 points, the Yo-Yo's are in fifth place with 24 points, and The Duds are in last with 23 points.

Huskies pick up a win, loss in Bewdley two game series

by Joe Banks

The Haliburton Huskies ended up with a one loss, one win split in games against Bewdley last week.

The Huskies suffered their first loss of the season last Wednesday night as they travelled to Bewdley for the first game in a series of two. The home-town team got the ball rolling in the first period when the puck was knifed past Haliburton goalie Paul Beattie. But the Huskies' Joe Roberts picked up his second goal of the season at 11:59, with assistance from Steve Davies and Dave Brown.

Mike Rae picked up an unassisted goal at 6:52 to give Haliburton a 2 to 1 lead at the end of the first.

Bewdley came out flying in the following period, scoring the quick goals at 18:30 and 15:36, to take the lead by one. Dwight Sisson picked up a five minute major fighting penalty at 3:43 in the period, and the Bewdley momentum carried through to 2:05, when they scored again to increase the lead by two.

In the third period, the Huskies pounced back. Just 26 seconds into the period, Brown, with help on the play from Steve Davies, picked one up. The goal was followed up by Kevin O'Hara at 17:36, with assistance from Chris Hodgson and Scott Cook. But the goals were nullified when Bewdley scored two at 6:35 and with 40 seconds left in the period to win the game 6 to 4.

But it was a different story in Haliburton on Saturday night, as the Huskies fought to avenge the loss. Haliburton jumped ahead in the first period when Hodgson, with assistance from Rae, scored a beautiful goal on a power play at 1:17. Bewdley returned the fire at 9:17 on a power play for a goal, and threatened again late in the period on a power play, but Steve Davies put one away on a shorthanded goal at 13:57 with back-up from Brown. Hodgson picked up his second goal of the game at 17:42 on a fine passing play from Ed Roberts and Kevin O'Hara. But on a power play, Bewdley came back late in the period at 19:38 to cut back the Huskies lead to one.

The second period, however, was completely dominated by the Huskies. Jerry Campbell started things off at 6:37, and Hodgson helped out on the play. At 15:30, Larry Stinson scored his first goal of the season, assisted by Davies. With only 16 seconds remaining in the period, Joe Roberts scored what appeared to be the clincher, assisted by Davies and Brown.

Bewdley marked one up at 1:10, but Haliburton reciprocated at 1:46, only 36 seconds later, when Ed Roberts and Rae set Dwight Sisson up for his first goal of the season. Bewdley then began to organize, scoring two goals in a row at 4:20 and 9:03. But the Huskies were still out of reach, and Campbell put the icing on the cake at 18:49, with assistance from Hodgson and Scheffee. The final score: Haliburton - 8, Bewdley - 5.

To date, Dave Brown has the highest number of points on the Huskies squad with 11, and Joe Roberts, Steve Davies, Kevin O'Hara and Chris Hodgson all have 7. Paul Beattie, the Huskies goaltender, currently has a 4.5 goals against average.

The Huskies will play their next game this Friday in Bancroft at 8:30 p.m.

Atoms beat Fenelon 2-0, goalie keeps team in game

Ben Packard's goaltending kept the Haliburton Tri-County Atoms in the game early against Fenelon Falls on Saturday. Fenelon played a strong game throughout, and led 2 to 0 after two periods.

The Haliburton team came out strongly in the third period, and their positional play paid off as Wallace Wood beat the Fenelon goal-er with a hard shot to the left side, when a pass from David Hodgins sent him into the clear with two minutes remaining.

Haliburton kept the pressure on, but could not get the equalizer in a very exciting game.

Haliburton Curling Club news

by Tom Stinson

Last week all schedules got underway at the club, with rinks so evenly matched that great competition, and close scores were common. Bob Collier and Don Johnson have the ice in good shape - it looks like another great season is underway. We can use more men curlers on both Monday and Thursday nights, but our ladies section seems to be almost full. We might remind you again if you would like to join with us - ladies call Linda Beachli - men call Bob Collier. Teaching sessions can be arranged for beginners, and our ladies have been very active in this regard. We might also repeat that a one day clinic will be held, Saturday, December 1 - starting at 8:30 a.m. Fee is only $5.00 including lunch. Instructing will be given by qualified O.C.A. instructors.

Bonspiels
Bob Collier is chairman of a one day mens this coming Saturday, November 24 consisting of three eight end games. Entries are already coming in to Rick Elstone, chairman of our very popular "Skyline" - the third week of January. Our Haliburton 'Spies have become well known and popular - partly because our own rinks have been doing more and more travelling and competing to outside 'Spies. This Saturday our senior mens rink along with two from Minden make our annual visit to Fenelon and already our local men and ladies are planning entries to OCA and SOLCA playdowns. While we haven't as yet achieved Briar or Lassie status, our rinks have always competed very strongly, and enjoyed the challenge of strange ice, good competition and great hospitality. Dick MacLean and Gary Bailey are taking rinks to the classy "Oshawa McLaughlin" early in January, a three day - six event great spiel. Bob Collier and Jean have taken rinks to every club from Whitby and Oshawa to North Bay, I am sure. It isn't always the prizes or the trophies that you may bring home, but the memories of closely fought games, some wins and some losses, and the great hospitality and meeting and playing with fine curlers that makes 'Spies such a great part of curling.

Floor hockey tourney held

The Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School boys floor hockey team picked up the consolation championship at the annual Lake Kashegawigamog Tourist Association floor hockey tournament held last weekend in Haliburton.

The team played A.C.T. from Peterborough, and won in a close 5 to 4 overtime victory. Goal scorers for Haliburton were Scott Mitchell with two and Bernie Upton, Brian Morrison and Kelly Mitchell with singles.

The girls team made it all the way to the final championship game, but were defeated by Prince of Wales School from Peterborough by a score of 4 to 2. Goal scorers for the girls team included Lisa Malott and Gayle Tunall. The Oshawa team won the girls final consolation round. Lakefield was the winner of the boys championship for the second year in a row, defeating an American team from Battle Creek, Michigan by a close score of 5 to 4. The game was very even, and sometimes rough, and though Battle Creek led in the first period by a score of 3 to 1, Lakefield fought back in the second and third periods. The girls team sportsmanship trophy this year went to Lakefield, while the boys team sportsmanship award went to Oshawa. Sponsors of the tournament, the Lake Kashegawigamog Tourist Association, expressed their appreciation to the people of Haliburton County who billeted the teams in their homes on the weekend.

Haliburton Bantams tie Woodville 6-6

by Doug Mitchell

Haliburton OMHA Bantams travelled to Woodville last Friday night and came away feeling lucky in a 6-6 tie. In the first period, Haliburton opened the scoring on a sinking shot from the point by Scott Mitchell. Before the period was over, another Haliburton defenceman, Barry Boice, put the puck home on a nice passing play from Drew Bishop and Bernie Upton.

In the second period, both teams traded goals with Scott Rae scoring from Steve Smith and Paul Vuksic.

In the third period it looked like Haliburton was going on to an easy win as Scott Rae started off the scoring in the first minute on an exciting unassisted rush. However, a persistent Woodville team fought back for two quick goals which seemed to unsettle the Haliburton team for the rest of the game. Before the period was over, Woodville scored five goals to Haliburton's two. Steve Smith scored at 10:19 from Paul Vuksic, and Kelly Mitchell scored at 7:27 from Steve Smith and Paul Vuksic. Final score was a 6-6 tie.

This week is busy for the Bantams as they play at 8:30 on Friday night, go to Gravenhurst for a tournament on Saturday and travel to Ops on Grey Cup Sunday for a 5:30 game there.

Tuesday Combines

Wayne Colman rolled a 688 triple to lead the group in the Tuesday Night Combines Bowling League. Colman bowled singles of 195, 260 and 233.

Bruce Medcalfe Jr. came up with a triple of 671, with

Extendicare News

by Dr. W.O. Anderson

Today, Monday, is the date of the big energy conference between the Federal government and the provinces. A crisis is thereby admitted as well as the fact that because of relatively cheap fuel Canada should be able to keep squandering that precious stuff. All of our politicians tell us we are burning too much of it without a care in the world, that not too far down the road the flow of oil will stop, and before we have made provision for the alternates. Our progeny, if any, will wonder if we were a nation of fools.

At a recent meeting of the residents of Extendicare nursing home, it was decided that we would like the same ease of access to alcoholic beverages as is afforded to other elderly persons of Ontario living in their own home. We have therefore asked our administrator to make application to the L.C.B.O. for a licence that will make this a fact. If successful it is planned that the beverages will be served in three two hour periods per week by an experienced person to residents only.

Mrs. June Devolin led us in the bible study group Tuesday morning with the theme "Praise God for everything; the joy of the Lord is my strength," the words of Paul, probably the first real evangelist to travel extensively to escape the annoyance of the King. If the average person takes stock daily of their many blessings, they would soon realize there is much to praise. Canada has much to praise: peace, opulence, reasonable taxation, a kind, profitable neighbour, and less need to worry about energy than most nations, and who but God have we to thank for such bounty. Let us be grateful and praise Him.

We have been advised of the death of Leslie Grist, who over the last few months did not seem to be able to recapture his good humour. Most of his relatives and friends, aside from us, are living at distance. We extend our sympathy to them.

Our welcome is extended to Edward Thorlakson of Minden, a new admission for Wednesday, a nice chap who will be a credit to the Gang. The residents are now pretty good at welcoming the new members.

Norman Craig who has been in a Peterborough hospital since the sixth is spry enough to return Wednesday afternoon. He is happy to be back.

The cushions that the ladies are making are in demand, sold even before they are made. They are of very good quality and careful stitching is assured. The nearness of Christmas is generating the demand.

Charlie Fader's first century birthday finally arrived Thursday, November 15 and in the afternoon some pomp was added. First to be noted, some neighbourhood ladies Mrs. Alma Noble, Mrs. Marjorie Fedorchuk, Mrs. Lila Austin, Mrs. Mirium Lewis, Mrs. Eileen Morrison and Mrs. Velma Springer, all in colourful period costume grouped about Charlie and family for the photographers and cinematographer for a picture and to usher him into his second century. The family pose for Charlie were - daughter-in-law Mrs. Winnie Fader, granddaughters, Elaine Barjerow and Sheila Griffin, great grandson Jerry Griffin, and great granddaughter Cathy Castle and great great granddaughters Keri Castle and Tanya Castle. Among the guests were Lieut. Mailman of the Haliburton Salvation Army, officer wife Linda and son Michael, plus a puppet, no name, but a suitable mate for Charlie McCarthy. The Lieut. was remarkably clever in his puppeteering quite on par with Edgar Bergen. Having brought his guitar he gave a spiritual solo rather appropriate for these festivities. Finally came the piece de resistance, a gorgeous delicious birthday cake, baked and donated by our former activities director, Mrs. Mirium Lewis, of Wilberforce. It was a great successful party considering it was not musically oriented.

Rev. John Smith of Lake-side Baptist Church led us in our devotional period Friday morning, and his wife Velma was our pianist, with Charles Plewman playing his harmonica in accompaniment. The theme was the crossing of the Jordan where its flow was stopped by God as promised to Moses and relayed to Joshua who led the crossing. Of great interest at the time was the building of a monument to God for his deliverance from slavery and the trials of a nomadic life. The monument, constructed of 12 stones, and located in the middle of the bed of the stopped up Jordan, had a stone for each of the 12 tribes of Israel, an overall symbol of the great event, much the same as the Baptist immersion is symbolic. Rev. Smith could not bide with us for the snack we had waiting.

It is not often we hear a church cliché, but one attributed to the Salvation Army we thought was good. "An empty stomach is the devil's play ground."

Friday afternoon were our usual movies, Ray Smith projectionist doing a real good job. 1. "Keep them flying" a quite amusing Abbott and Costello film in war time. Charlie Chaplin did his stunts on the ground but these two did them in the air while flying. 2. Tied to the sea, a film taken in the waters of Puget Sound of Victoria. It was simply a matter of putting in time, water skiing, boating, fishing, cleaning them, and/or carrying out any pastimes that are thought of. 3. Serpent River paddlers in Quebec province, of using a river as a highway in canoes, and building them and snow shoes in the tradition of "Indian folklore." It was a quite interesting session.

Sunday afternoon, Lieut. Ron Mailman, of the Haliburton Salvation Army, with his trusty guitar, and with a host of others, officers Mrs. Martha Sibley and Mrs. Lilian Hague, SM Francis Noble and officer wife Norma, officers, Mrs. Mary Henry, Miss Ann Edwards, Miss Tanya Palmer, Ted Palmer and his wife Diane, all joined in to give us sort of revival. This was unscheduled but nonetheless welcome.

We understand that the lowly earth worm is taking on a stupendous task that of consuming all of the organic garbage, converting it to a saleable product, - fertilizer. A deodorant garbage receptacle will sit in the kitchen suitable decorated, containing the most efficient species of earthworm into which will be put all the organic left overs. Just think, no more municipal dumps.

Tourney held

A team from the Haliburton Ladies Auxiliary, Branch 129 placed second in the regional cribbage - tournament held in Cobourg, Saturday. Some 70 tables were in play during the competition.

Members of the Haliburton team were Irene Wiggins, Gwen Cox, Laura Bannon and Ruth Schell.

The team will now go on to play provincial cribbage in the spring.

Peterborough placed first in the tournament.

Highland Little Theatre

With the polish and finesse of professionals, the Highland Little Theatre Group staged their first production this past Friday and Saturday night at the Haliburton High School.

From the moment the curtain rose the audience, of approximately 150 people, both young and old, were treated to an evening of superb entertainment, as our local actors and actresses put forth a performance that was worthy of seasonal professionals.

The handling of the Noel Coward, three act play, "Blithe Spirit" was a credit to its director Steve Phillips. His use of subtle humour, from having Madame Arcati, played by Caryl Douglas, wearing running shoes and bicycle clips and Charles, played by Dale McConnell, sporting two black arm bands after the death of his second wife Ruth, played superbly by Bonnie Fitzgerald to the more obvious broad humour was a tribute to the man's creative ability in that it brought out the best these very talented friends and neighbours had to offer.

The cast of characters included Edith, the maid, played with shy innocence by Sandy Willis; Ruth, Charles second wife played with what has become the typical "stiff upper lip" one associates with the upper crust English by Bonnie Fitzgerald; Charles, the somewhat henpecked man about town played by Dale McConnell; Dr. and Mrs. Bradman played by Glen Carter and Beverlea Simmonds as the nice country Dr. and his wife, unwittingly drawn into this little drama; Madame Arcate, played with perfection as the eccentric medium who unwittingly calls back the first wife from the beyond, then has a duce of a time getting rid of her; and last and most certainly not least Elvira, Charles first wife who turns in a believable performance as the ghost who is not so dearly departed, played by Heather Scully.

All in all, it was a most entertaining evening and all the cast and crew deserve a great deal of credit for their fine work. I'm looking forward with anticipation to Cont'd. page 14

When we shop Canadian, Canada makes it.

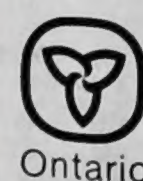

When we shop Canadian, it's more than a good idea. It's a great investment in our country's future. Every time Canadians buy their own products, they give Canadians work. Right here in Ontario, manufacturing industries employ about one million people. That's 25% of all the jobs in Ontario.

When we shop Canadian, we strengthen the economy of our province and our country.

By purchasing products that say "Made in Canada", we're developing and maintaining the industrial strengths we need to compete in world-wide markets.

And we're helping ourselves right here at home by strengthening Ontario's resources and assuring our future growth.

So the next time you're buying something, look for the symbol that says "Made in Canada".

The 1979-80 Junior 'D' Haliburton NorthernWays Huskies have stepped onto the rink this year in a winning way, taking three of the four games they've played as of November 17.

The club has seen some changes this year, both in coaching and playing staff, and they promise to provide a refreshing style of hockey, and some fine entertainment.

This year, Larry Hartin took over the coaching duties from Rick Wood, coach of the Huskies for the past two seasons. Mr. Hartin has had extensive coaching experience in the minor hockey system in Toronto, and is a resident of Haliburton. A former Huskie, Mark Schell of Haliburton will be assisting Mr. Hartin in the coaching duties. He is also a resident of Haliburton.

Don Lloyd is returning as the team's General Manager and Bob Wells will act as the assistant manager for the team.

The unique double coaching system should provide the Huskies with an extra dimension that they have not had in the past. Such coaching techniques have met with success this year as Scotty Bowman and Roger Nielson teamed up to coach this year's version of the Buffalo Sabres in the National Hockey League.

'Big Gun' veteran players returning to the team this year include captain Joe Roberts, who has racked up 10 points so far in the season with three goals and four assists, Chris Hodgson, Kevin O'Hara, Steve Davies, Dave Brown and Ed Roberts. Dwight Sisson, Mike Scheffee, Larry Stinson, Bill Hogg, Paul Beattie, Jerry Campbell and Craig Wood are all veteran Huskies, and promise to provide the team with the much-needed depth that marks a good hockey club.

Some rookies on the team this year have supplemented the Huskies stronghold of experience. Mike Rae, who will be playing right defence for the squad this year, has managed to come up with three goals and five assists for 8 points, making him the second top point-getter on the team so far, which is a remarkable achievement for a first year defenceman. Mike is behind Dave Brown, centre, who has 11 points, making him the second top As well, Kevin Marshall, a Wilberforce lad from the Midgets, has been playing a consistent style of hockey. Kevin has picked up a goal and an assist so far.

One very noticeable difference this year is the Huskies style of play, which coach Hartin has seemed to influence. Traditionally, the team has relied on muscle to win games, but, as is evident by the fewer number of penalties handed to the players this year, the emphasis is on skills and back-to-basics hockey. The team still retains enough physical stature, however, to maintain a healthy balance in their style of play.

The Huskies are owned by the municipality and receive sponsorship from the NorthernWays Transit Lines. This supplement gives the details of each player in age, height, weight, position and the last team they played with. With it, you can follow the Huskies games with more knowledge and insight, and gain an appreciation of what this Junior 'D' club can accomplish this year.

Elsewhere in the supplement, there is a season schedule for the team, as well as some pictures taken from games last year. If you can't make it to the games, then follow Huskies action through photographs and stories that will be carried in The Echo from week to week.

Either way, the Huskies are a sure bet to keep Haliburton County hockey enthusiasts busy for most of the winter!

Chatting with Irene

by Irene Moore

Well my friends, that very special time of the year is drawing closer every day. Right now it is only one month and a few days away. It really is hard to get the spirit of Christmas working when one thinks of fuel bills, etc. that will face us this winter, but a lot of us weathered the early 30's, so we know when to tighten our belts and dig in. Those I feel sorry for are the younger folk who have no idea just how much we may have to tighten up. Canadians did it once and weathered those years, and I'm sure they can do it again, so do not be overly alarmed, just grit your teeth and win through once more.

Things may look bleak now, but there is a silver lining to every cloud, so chin up all and keep plugging! It was so nice to chat with Mr. and Mrs. Keith Taylor of West Hill last Friday. They combined business with pleasure and attended the U.C.W. luncheon. While talking to them, I was told they had read about the luncheon in this column, so I know a lot read my nonsense each week. To all who came or contributed in any way the U.C.W. says Thankyou so much for helping.

Next year will be the 10th year for this luncheon and likely will be another success as it is getting bigger each year.

Do you have your tickets for the Dinner - Dance which is being held at Wig-a-mog Inn this Saturday, November 24? If not, contact 286-2422; 286-1713 or 457-1150 right now. This dinner - dance is sponsored by the Haliburton District Association for the Mentally Retarded and the proceeds go toward the upkeep of the new residence in Haliburton.

Carol Emmerson and Beverly and Mrs. Crane spent a few days in Toronto last week and Beverly had a chat with Santa Claus.

Grab yourself a box and come on out to the Box rummage sale at St. Paul's Parish Hall this Friday, November 23. The sale is on from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. All you can put in your box for the one price.

Laura Bird of Seneca College, Toronto and Mike Bird from Sir Sandford Fleming College, Peterborough spent the weekend with their parents and friends.

Mini Card Party winners last week were Eucire, Ione hand, Shirley Elcome; Bill Elcome, Mary McKelvey, Cribbage - Lillian Davidson, Jeanne Sears.

Mr. & Mrs. Sheridan Kellett and family of Bridgeport spent the weekend with Mrs. Gladys Wruth.

Mrs. Tim Carroll of Nipigon spent several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Austen.

Last Saturday evening members of the County Roads Department and their wives attended a dinner and dance at Stanhope Community Centre. This was held to say so-long to Mr. Wm. Saunders who has retired. Everyone enjoyed the social get-together and presented Bill with a lovely reclining chair.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Miller and girls; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Coulter and Mr. & Mrs. Angus Coulter visited with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Coulter in Kirkfield on Sunday and attended the christening of little Amber Coulter.

It is nice to walk into Pro-Hardware store and see the smiling face of Paul MacBrien around. Paul has been in Equador for a few years and only returned home several weeks ago.

Another familiar face that has been around town recently was that of Mrs. Charles Zanatin from Wyoming, U.S.A. She has been visiting with her mother, Mrs. May Wright and sister Mrs. Ted Johnston.

Mr. & Mrs. Lyle McKnight are home again after a visit with their daughter Luanne in California.

Lee Oster of Toronto spent the weekend visiting friends in this area.

Mr. & Mrs. Milton Sears were in Peterborough on Wednesday, where Milt underwent surgery on his hand. Hope it is soon out of the cast Milt.

Ok, I said Christmas was close so from now until then, will try to give you recipes to bake ahead of time, because time flies from now on. This recipe will keep until Christmas.

Christmas Shortbread
1 cup butter,
1/2 cup sugar
2 1/2 cups presifted flour

Cream butter and gradually add sugar; blend in flour gradually. Turn dough out on lightly floured board and knead slightly. Roll out to 1/4" thickness. Cut in Christmas shapes and place on baking sheet that has been lined with a sheet of brown paper. Bake at 300 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. To make Christmas Wreaths - cut the circles with doughnut cutter or scalloped cookie cutter, to cut holes (if needed use thimble or small bottle cap). Store in air tight container then just before needed frost with icing and decorate with red and green cherry stripes, and coloured cake decorations.

Use your imagination and have some beautiful shortbread on Christmas day.

Carol Toye is back at work after a holiday with relatives and friends in Ontario.

Minden United Church Women are holding their final business meeting for 1979 at the Church Hall on Monday, November 26, 7:30 p.m. Try to attend.

Mr. Bob MacBrien spent several days in Toronto this week.

It is nice to know that all Mississauga folk are back home again. With so many from around here in that area, we want them to know there were many anxious moments here until word got through that all was well.

How, as everyone is asking, could such a thing happen? But that is one question that our Government will have to solve and fast, with no more red tape. Everyone is happy there were no casualties and hope all homes were secure when people were able to go back. Adios and take care now.

Did you know? We have a centenarian in our area. Charles Fader, resident of Extensicare Nursing Home, formerly of Maple Lake, was one hundred years old last Thursday, November 15. He was interviewed by a reporter from CKLY television in Barrie. The interview is to be shown soon after the news.

He was "At Home" to his many friends and relatives on Sunday, November 18. Lloyd Harrison of Toronto is spending a few days with his sister, Ruth Barry of West Guilford.

Christmas parties seem to be the order of the day. The next few weekends will be busy ones.

The Carnarvon U.C.W. are having their Christmas meeting on Tuesday, December 4 at Carnarvon United Church. Members of the other churches in the area are invited to attend and take part in the service.

The ladies of Gull River Valley Lodge, #1162, met at the home of Mrs. Mary Wilkinson on their regular meeting night, which was also Mrs. Wilkinson's birthday. Mary celebrated her 84th birthday and has been an active Orange Lodge member since a Lodge formed here in 1948.

The Charlie Brotherson's have gone to Zephyrhills, Florida for the winter and a number of local residents are planning their migration south. Can't say that I blame them as our winters are cold and the thoughts of shovelling snow turns me off, too! Deer hunting season is past for another year. This is one year that I never saw even one deer hanging in a tree, nor on a car. I'm sure there must have been some shot, but I just did not see them. One morning last week, Wednesday, I believe, as my husband went to do his chores at 5:30 a.m. he remarked that the wolves could be heard very well out to the south east of our barn on Baseline Road. It seems too bad that there isn't a good reward for trapping or shooting wolves. I don't believe there is any bounty at Many thanks to the members of the South Algonquin Kinsmen Club for the fine, new telephone directory. Everyone in the area received one. They were free, they were delivered right to the door and they contain the most wonderful large size print that can be read without glasses. Inside is a report on the establishment of the club, its aspirations for the future and a listing of some of its accomplishments since 1976. We are lucky to have this club of young men working for the good of our community.

To brighten these dreary days of November we had a wedding. It took place on Saturday, November 17 in Ironton. The Rev. Trevor Denny performed the service in the Anglican Church which had been nicely decorated for the occasion with bows and flowers. The lovely bride, Terry Graham, wore a white gown and was accompanied by her three bridesmaids. The handsome groom was Bart Barnes, son of Lloyd and Patricia Barnes of Wilberforce. The wedding was at seven in the evening and later a large number of guests joined the wedding party at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre where they enjoyed an evening of dancing and refreshments. Many relatives from out of town found accommodation in this area and the next morning were treated to a breakfast in the Legion Hall.

The happy couple will make their home in London, Ontario.

If you are unable to attend the Tutankhamen show in Toronto the next best thing is a visit to Monmouth Library where there is a great display of the many treasures to be seen at the Toronto show. There are also books and printed material to bring you up to date on the past history of the Egyptian boy king.

There is a library book exchange this week so drop in and see what is new in reading material.

This Wednesday, the ice will be ready for the Figure Skating Club. It looks like a good winter programme ahead. A good instructress has been signed up. She is Shelley Winters who will also be teaching at Bancroft and Apsley. Young skaters should register soon with the club as this is the best time of the year to get started before the extreme cold weather sets in. The fees are a low $12 for the season, three or more in a family pay just $30. These easy rates are made possible with the help of proceeds from the Christmas bazaar that was held on Saturday. Many people enjoyed the event and took part in the Penny Sale. The Club is grateful to the many business people who donated prizes for this event, also to those who particular institution. With the terminal, the information is displayed instantly on a video screen, and at the push of a button, can be typed out on paper at high speed for the student to study at his or her leisure.

Second main advantage of the system, Rydman says, is that it allows students to explore career possibilities based on their general interests, and to do so quickly and easily. That can be particularly important for students in an area like Haliburton County, Rydman says, where opportunities to observe various careers are limited.

Students who know a particular career interests them can enter the number code for that career into the computer by typing on a keyboard. The computer then provides information on the educational requirements for the career, the places where that education can be obtained, and on the admission requirements for any particular institution. Students who are unsure what they want to do can simply explore. Careers are grouped in 23 general categories, and by answering questions the computer poses, a student can find out about career possibilities based on his general interests and aptitudes.

Each student in grade 12 and 13 at the school will be allowed an initial half hour session with the machine, but it will be available for use during lunch hours and activity period as well. Priority is being given to students who graduate from HHSS this year, but others will also have an opportunity to use the machine during the course of the year, Rydman said.

Because the machine is still in the experimental stage, there are some "bugs" in the system, but these are expected to be ironed out in the near future. A number of people have been trained to use the machine, and are available to help students who experience problems at the machine's keyboard.

Although only HHSS students have access to the machine at the moment, there is a possibility that it will be available to the public through the manpower office in the near future, Rydman said.

In the meantime, parents can watch the machine at work at a post secondary night slated to be held at the school next Wednesday night.

Norland Notebook

by Barbara Maunder

After asking for your patience and understanding in the long wait for our Minden Coboconk area Vietnamese family, word was received last week that our sponsored family of two brothers aged 16 and 18 years and their aunt and uncle and a cousin will arrive on November 17 in Edmonton, Alberta. A few days later they will be flown to Toronto where a committee will welcome them and bring them to Coboconk to live. Mr. and Mrs. C. Sanderson who owns a winterized cottage at Indian Point, Balsam Lake have offered it to house this family. Until accommodations can be found closer to town the Phans will make their home there. I called Mrs. David Suckling this week to ask how their refugee family was making out after three weeks in Canada. Unfortunately Mr. Tran the father, has a serious heart problem and has not been well since his arrival. All of the family were fascinated as they viewed their first snowfall and all are, understandably, having a difficult time adjusting to our cold weather. Because of poor diet and lack of food as Vietnam refugees they are suffering from malnutrition so instead of serving their regular Chinese type of food, they are being given nutritionally high Canadian meals until their health improves. Mrs. Suckling had nothing but praise and kind words to describe the family and is delighted to be able to help them. The Sucklings need a chest of drawers for the clothes of the Tran family and would appreciate hearing from you if you have an extra one. Their phone number is 454-3768.

Saturday, November 10 was the last evening for the grocery cash tape draw at Norland Red and White store. Mrs. Howard (Katie) Magee was the winner on that evening. The draw for the Mustang Ghia car (one car for each of four areas) will be drawn on Friday, November 23 in Toronto. How nice it would be if someone from Norland was the fortunate winner for the car in this draw area!

Coboconk Lions Club held their second monthly meeting on Thursday, November 15 with 14 members present. Many activities have been planned by the group in the near future. They are holding a turkey bingo in Coboconk Community Hall on Wednesday, December 5 at 8:00 p.m. There will be 15 games of bingo and the prizes will be turkeys except in the case of two or more winners of a game when cash will be given. It's a great way to help the Lions Club and have fun and a Christmas turkey too! Again this year a sleigh ride in Balsam Lake Park for the young people in Coboconk - Norland area. This has proven to be a popular event over the years, with everyone enjoying the ride over the snow and fresh air and the refreshments served as the ride ended. I imagine that the event is contingent on snow falling and staying in the meantime, but that is a good possibility. Further details as to time and meeting place will be printed later. Lion members are selling very attractive 18 inch long plastic candy canes filled with wrapped candies at $1.50 each. They would be excellent stocking stuffers for Christmas and if opened carefully, reusable for another year. Any Lion member can assist you if you are interested in purchasing one or more of these goodies.

Remember Burnt River U.C.W. is having a Rummage sale, bazaar, sale of baked goods, skate and hockey sale and/or exchange in the Burnt River Orange Hall on Saturday, November 24 from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Norland Firefighters' hockey pool winner on Saturday, November 10 was Mrs. Boyd (Barbara) Magee.

Mrs. Eva Dunbar is still interested in collecting the plastic clips from the bread bags. A school for retarded children is able to put them to good use so we should all save them and pass them on to Eva who lives east of Norland on north side of Highway 503.

Norland Bowling club team standings as of Wednesday, November 14. Teams of R. Bryant, H. Smith and W. Landry - 7 pts., T. Watson 5 pts., P. Purcell, 2 pts., and no score for M. Angiers, M. McAllister and J. Boyce. Men's high single and triple - Harry Smith - 250, 631 and high average Mike McAllister - 201. Ladies high single - Mary Weerdenburg - 193, high triples - Jean Boyce 520 and high average Wanda Landry 173.

Some people are unhappy with the taste of chlorine in our local water supply. Your water board works very hard to keep the chlorine count as low as possible and still meet health regulations. I'm sure that you would prefer the slight chlorine taste and know that the salmonella bacteria that is ever present in all local river and lake water these days is being destroyed. I recently read of an outbreak of over 250 cases of typhoid in a town in Quebec that was traced directly back to the fact that the chlorine in the town's water supply had run out and no one discovered it for two days. Surely no one wants that for Norland. The chlorine taste in the water will disappear if the water is allowed to sit in a pitcher or open kettle for a few hours or overnight to allow the chemical to escape into the air.

Pioneer Baptist Church people are busy finishing an addition to the church that will be used for a Sunday school room.

Coboconk OPP detachment are now moved into their new headquarters on Highway 48 just west of Coboconk. Two Christmas bazaars to remember to attend. Knox United Church, Coboconk on Friday, November 23 from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. in the church hall. Norland Women's Institute luncheon and bazaar in community hall on Saturday, December 1 from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

The Hyland Crest senior citizens home in Minden was a busy place last Wednesday afternoon as the residents held their annual Christmas tea and bazaar. Tables filled with handicrafts, baked goods and other items emptied fast as visitors got a head start on their Christmas shopping.

Zoning change application accepted by council

At a meeting of Dysart et al council last Tuesday, the following matters were considered:

General accounts totalling $79,277.01, road accounts totalling $74,192.32 and social services accounts totalling $6,609.65 were approved for payment.

The Wettlaufer and Woodcock applications for amendments to the zoning by-law will be forwarded to the consultants for preparation, council decided.

Bishop and Rogers were authorized to prepare the deeds on Plan 478, block A, Harburn Township, (turning the parking area back to the owners).

The Reynolds, Wiseman and Darrell applications for amendments to the Official Plan will be forwarded to the consultants for preparation.

Council agreed that the mill property of International Coopage at Eagle Lake, Part Lot 26, Concession 3, which is presently zoned RU, will be changed to M zoning. The owners will be advised that a development agreement will be required.

By-law 79-46, a by-law to close, stop up and convey a portion of the original road allowance between Lots 30 travel through the tissues of the cattle's body, from their legs up to the back. This causes a lot of discomfort to the animal, and as a result it does not grow properly.

Then next spring the full grown grub on the animals' back damages a pound or two of meat and ruins the hide by cutting a hole through it.

Treating cattle now will kill these grubs before they do this damage.

Treated beef calves and yearlings will grow better all winter, gaining perhaps 25 to 40 pounds more than an infested animal. Treated dairy heifers will grow better, and will be large enough to breed up to a month earlier than untreated heifers.

Market beef animals in feedlots which are treated now, will not run the risk of being seriously discounted by the packers when they are sold to market next spring. All of these benefits can mean many dollars per animal to a farmer. The cost of treating each cattle beast is probably less than 50 cents a head.

The majority of cattle owners in Victoria and Haliburton Counties have been treating their cattle for warbles with a systemic insecticide for the past several years. However, there are still some farmers who do not control warbles on their cattle. These uncontrolled grubs turn into warble flies each spring and then spend the summer travelling all the pasture fields in the area laying eggs on any cattle they can find.

Mr. Brady Major of Hamilton spent a few days visiting his family Mr. and Mrs. A. Major.

Ho, Ho, Ho! and guess what's coming in less than 6 weeks? You're right, it's Christmas, the time to hustle and bustle with shopping and baking and sending cards and other preparations for this special time of the year. I very well know that a lot of work goes into getting ready, but I find if we try to do it all with a good heart and make fun and happiness mixed with it and most of all keep the Christ in Christmas, we will all be able to say afterwards, what a good festive season we had.

Miss Terry Lynn Cowan of Thunderbay is spending and few days with her sister Mrs. Bev. Billings.

Mr. and Mrs. Randy Foster of Roseneath spent the weekend visiting with Valier's parent's Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Stamp, Sheila of Lindsay and Terry and Linda and baby of Mississauga also visited them.

Spending the weekend at the hunt camp were Mr. & Mrs. Dan Mills, Mr. & Mrs. Ed Hewitt, Mr. & Mrs. Ernie Latchford of Peterborough and ourselves.

Farm News and Views

As we get closer to the start of winter, more and more cattle are being brought off pastures and into winter quarters.

There are a variety of treatments which farmers should consider applying to these cattle. The one treatment which is essential on all of them is treating to control warble grubs and lice.

Several excellent systemic insecticides are available, enabling every farmer to easily and economically treat his cattle this fall.

All beef cattle, and all young dairy cattle should be treated. Calves born since mid-summer will not likely be infested and should not need treating. Of course, cows producing milk for human consumption must not be treated.

Between now and next spring, the warble grubs

travel through the tissues of the cattle's body, from their legs up to the back. This causes a lot of discomfort to the animal, and as a result it does not grow properly.

Then next spring the full grown grub on the animals' back damages a pound or two of meat and ruins the hide by cutting a hole through it.

Treating cattle now will kill these grubs before they do this damage.

Treated beef calves and yearlings will grow better all winter, gaining perhaps 25 to 40 pounds more than an infested animal. Treated dairy heifers will grow better, and will be large enough to breed up to a month earlier than untreated heifers.

Market beef animals in feedlots which are treated now, will not run the risk of being seriously discounted by the packers when they are sold to market next spring. All of these benefits can mean many dollars per animal to a farmer. The cost of treating each cattle beast is probably less than 50 cents a head.

The majority of cattle owners in Victoria and Haliburton Counties have been treating their cattle for warbles with a systemic insecticide for the past several years. However, there are still some farmers who do not control warbles on their cattle. These uncontrolled grubs turn into warble flies each spring and then spend the summer travelling all the pasture fields in the area laying eggs on any cattle they can find.

HALIBURTON IGA MARKET

Haliburton Highlights

by Creighton Feir

We notice that some new street lights have been added on Highway 121 from the Rex Boice residence to the Driftwood Restaurant. It's nice to see these new lights installed, but some people are complaining that they aren't showing enough light.

Dave Gifford an investment broker from A.E. Ames & Co. was a recent guest speaker at the Rotary Club of Haliburton. During his talk he analyzed the month of October from an investment point of view. Dave feels that the governments in the western world must find the resolve to come to grips with the economic problems confronting them.

The local stores are bustling with activity these days as Christmas approaches and most merchants we have been talking with tell us that business is picking up and that they are looking for more of the same before the end of the year.

The Dysart Community Centre at Haliburton is a hive of activity these days and ice time is at a premium. With hockey games, practices, figure skating and public skating things are kept very busy.

It would certainly be nice if the local council could see fit to put up some colourful decorated lights for the Christmas season along Highland Street in Haliburton. Council have talked about this one several occasions, but little or no action has been taken to this time.

The Christmas Exhibition and Sale is in full swing at the Raily End Station Gallery in Haliburton Village. It started on Tuesday, November 20th and will continue on through until Saturday, December 1. Special features include a party for helpers and supporters and a slide presentation on Wednesday, November 21st, then a 101st birthday celebration on Saturday, November 24.

Two guest speakers from "100 Huntley Street" will be present when the ladies of Zion meet for a potluck supper at the Haliburton High School cafeteria on Friday, November 30.

The Minden Rotarian's wives have invited the Haliburton Rotary Anns to join them for dinner at Mr. Fogg's at Carnarvon on Monday, December 3. A buffet dinner will be served at 7:00 p.m.

The hockey season is still very young but the Haliburton Huskies are showing signs already early in the schedule that they have a team that could go places this winter. The Huskies after playing four games have a record of 3 wins and 1 loss. This Friday evening they travel to Bancroft to take on the Jets and on Saturday night they are back at the arena in Haliburton to meet the Lakefield Chiefs. Now is the time to support the Huskies by attending their home games and cheering them on to victory.

Work has been continuing on the new park on Head Lake at Haliburton, but it will soon have to cease as winter closes in. There is a great deal of interest shown in this project and everyone will be very pleased when it is completed.

As a result, it is necessary to treat your cattle for warbles every fall. And since these insecticides also do an excellent job of controlling lice, this treatment is worthwhile even if your cattle doesn't have warbles.

The systemic insecticides are readily available at any farm supply outlet in the area. Spoton is probably the most popular one because of its ease of application. Grubex, Néguvon and Co-op

Warble Killer are products you pour on down the animals top line. Co-Ral is an insecticide to be sprayed on. All do an equal job of controlling warbles and lice.

Please remember that Saturday, December 1 is the critical date again this year for applying these systemic insecticides. They should not be applied to your cattle after that date. A farmer is taking a chance of having undesirable side effects if cattle are treated after December 1.

Youth hath many charms
Hath many joys, and much delight;
Even its doubts, and vague alarms,
By contrast make it bright!
And yet - and yet - forsooth,
I love age as well as youth!

Well, since I love them both,
The good of both I will combine,
In women, I will seek for Youth,
And look for Age in wine;
And then - and then - I'll bless
This twain that gives me happiness!

Galway/Cavendish holds meeting

At a meeting of Galway Cavendish council November 10, the following matters were considered:

A by-law to amend the previous by-law to rezone Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler's property on Conc. A., south half of lot 9, was proposed. The hazard lines on the property had to be adjusted to conform to the Ministry of Natural Resources aerial survey.

Council decided, that any surplus that may be available in the general account following the final audit for 1979 of the Townships of Galway and Cavendish, will be transferred to the reserve fund.

A resolution from Valley East #79-30 and dated October 22, 1979 pertaining to school children having to cross more than two lanes of traffic to board or disembark from the school buses, tabled.

A resolution from the Municipality of Waterloo dealing with Bill 127 (Pits & Quarries Control Act) was also tabled.

The Reeve was authorized to attend the seminar on Planning and Zoning, November 30, 1979 sponsored by Insight Educational Services Ltd. and out of pocket expenses will be paid by the Municipality.

The offer to purchase for lot 19, Concession 17 Galway Township, from Wilhelm Schwiering in the amount of $7500 was accepted subject to the approval of the Ministry of Intergovernmental Affairs. This lot was placed under tax registration in 1977 and taken over by the Municipality at that time.

H.C.S.A. requests brushing on roads

The Haliburton County Snowmobile Association has asked Anson, Hindon and Minden council if certain portions of township property could be brushed out to use as trails.

The purpose of the request said a letter to council from the Association, "is to try, wherever possible, to move the existing snowmobile trail off the travelled portions of the township roads."

The first area the club hopes to brush out is Horseshoe Lake Roads #1 and 2 on Lot 10, concession 7 and 8, both ways from the steel bridge at Mirror Lake. They also hope to clear the Dennis Road allowance from Horseshoe Lake Road #2 along the north side of the road in the area already brushed out by Ontario Hydro for power lines.

Another location would be along a portion of the McArthur Road which runs east from Highway 35 at the Highland Motel; "that portion being near the Ivan Miscio residence east to the junction of the Duck Lake Road."

Council agreed to allow the sections to be brushed out by the club, provided permission be received from the affected property owners relative to hedges and cultivated shrubs and trees.

Snowmobile fatalities number 32 in accidents last year

Last year, some 32 people were killed in snowmobile accidents across the province, a 52 percent increase over the previous year.

An additional seven snowmobile operators and one passenger drowned when they broke through thin ice or drove their vehicles into open water.

Overall collisions between machines, and between snowmobiles and other vehicles were down 4.1 percent from 803 in 1977-78 to 770 in 1978-79. The fatality rate, however, matched the all time high totals of 1970-71 and 1974-75.

In announcing the statistics, Transportation Minister James Snow said snowmobile operators should "put safety first" this year.

He said more people should learn about safe snowmobile operation and that beginners, especially youngsters, could benefit from the driver training courses, offered through the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs.

Recycle it! by Jane Selbie

Saving steps while housecleaning is always a homemakers ideal. Consider these ideas.

Wear an apron with very large pockets. As you go about the house you can pocket the picked up litter and have it with you to deposit in the proper place along the way.

A 6 quart basket at the top of the stairs and one at the bottom will be a handy collection point. You can eliminate many single trips and do all the depositing when you have time. A rule in our house while growing up was "don't go upstairs without taking something with you." Clothes baskets, books, linen were always deposited at the bottom ready for the next climber.

To alternate your energy outputs, review your tasks. If you have been standing to do dishes or the ironing, choose a sit down chore such as mending or updating your recipe book or clipping coupons. By deliberately pacing activities such as this you will space your energy to meet the demand. You will also find that by being nicer to yourself in this way odd jobs that always get put off soon get done. By following this method your letter writing will be kept up to date too!

Carry a small notebook in your apron pocket along with a pen. As you think of it enter additions to your shopping list, a cute limerick, a chore that mustn't be forgotten or a craft idea that you would like to try. I do this and that is how some of these columns get drafted. It saves time going after the shopping list, or whatever and it is amazing after awhile how your mind races productively while doing mundane chores like making beds or dusting stovepipes!

Mrs. F. Nesbitt of Cobocok has a good winter suggestion that may save time and tow truck costs. "Do not throw away your old pieces of carpet. Keep a fairly wide and long piece or two in your car. Place it in front of your back wheel to give the tire a grip when stuck in slippery snow." She also closed her letter with a catchy closing phrase -- "yours for recycling it." It might be a good ending to use in your letters to get friends and relatives to consider doing their part.

Mrs. Mary E. Robertson of Haliburton sent this idea which I promptly tried and appreciate. When clothes pins turn dark, boil them in a weak solution of bleach for a few minutes.

Rinse thoroughly and dry well.

Jean Sears of Minden offers an idea for ravelled out yarn. Use those bits and pieces double to crochet or knit into cosy, colourful scarves.

Share your accumulated time savers. Write to: Recycle it! Box 360, Haliburton Echo, Haliburton, Ont., K0M 1S0.

Report from Parliament

by Bill Scott MP

- Intended for last week -

Last Wednesday, November 14, the people in three provincial Quebec ridings voted in by-elections to fill vacancies in Quebec National Assembly. The results of the vote was a clean sweep for the provincial Liberal party of Claude Ryan in all three ridings.

In Maisonneuve constituency, which had been held by the Parti Quebecois since 1970 and was considered a PQ stronghold, the Liberal candidate, George Lalande, received more than 60 percent of the votes cast. The Liberals were runaway winners in the other two ridings as well, with Solange Chaput-Rolland winning by more than 9000 votes in Prevost and Hermann Mathieu winning by more than 2000 votes in Beauce-Sud over their PQ opponents.

The byelection defeats of the Parti Quebecois candidates on the very eve of the third anniversary of the PQ victory in the provincial general election on November 15, 1976, comes at a particularly critical time for the government of Rene Levesque. The byelections followed by two weeks the publication of the PQ's White Paper proposals for sovereignty-association, and as by all accounts the White Paper was a best-seller in Quebec, with many bookstores reporting that they had sold out their initial orders on the first day, the byelections were interpreted by many people to be a vote on the sovereignty-association proposals. If that was the case, then the voters in the three byelection constituencies at least massively rejected the White Paper proposals.

One has to be careful not to read too much into the results of three byelections, since the referendum has not been held yet and the final vote is not in on the sovereignty-association option, but the defeat of the PQ candidates so soon after Levesque had clarified his intentions for a separate Quebec is at least a hopeful sign for all Canadians who believe in a united Canada. Quebec Liberal Leader Claude Ryan was quite unequivocal when he responded to the White Paper on November 1, saying that the sovereignty-association proposals were totally unrealistic and unworkable. The position of the Quebec Liberal party is that what the majority of Quebecers really want is not independence or sovereignty with association, but to remain a party of Canada, but in a renewed federal relationship. All the opinion polls that have been taken in Quebec during the past three years have all in fact indicated this. The percentage of Quebecers favouring independence or sovereignty (which are merely other words for separation), has never varied from more than 18 to 21 percent, but the percentage of those wanting a renewed Canadian federalism is usually well over 60 percent.

The byelection results demonstrate, I think, that Quebecers are politically mature and that given accurate and complete information about the independence option, will make the sensible choice in the Spring referendum.

Quebecers don't want separation, but they don't necessarily want the status quo either. What they seem to want is a renewed federalism that is more flexible, more understanding, more human, than the rigid confederationist type practiced by Pierre Trudeau.

Prime minister Clark understands this Quebec desire for a new federalism and has publicly stated that it is now the heavy responsibility and the obligation of the Conservative Government in Ottawa to work toward this new federalism and to demonstrate that the attitude and approach of the central government toward Quebec has changed. The early indications are that the prime minister's new approach has been found refreshing in Quebec and is generally well received.

WE BRING PEOPLE HOME

Senior citizens sales targets: M.M.C.C.R.

Senior citizens lose thousands of dollars every year to unethical merchants selling everything from magazines to major home repairs. According to Ontario's Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations, the senior citizen is often regarded as a favourite target.

While the majority of businesses in Ontario do operate honestly, the Ministry advises that senior citizens should be careful to ask questions before buying:

Do you really need the product or service? What would you expect to pay? Does the price seem reasonable? Can you afford the purchase? Is this a standard item, or do you have a choice? If so, have you compared the alternatives? Is it a quality product? What kind of guarantee is offered? Where can you get good service and replacement parts if you need them? Can you use the article "as is" or do you have to make additional purchases before you can use the item? Can you save money by repairing an old item to do the same job?

Once you've answered these questions to your own satisfaction, equip yourself with as much information as you can about both the seller and the product or service.

Familiarize yourself with brand-name goods and their cost, so you can compare merchandise and prices. Deal with well-known, respected firms. Check out the local reputation of a business, especially if it has an unfamiliar name, uses a box office mailing address or has no listed telephone number. Check with your local Chamber of Commerce.

Find out exactly how much your purchase is going to cost. Does the price include shipping, assembly, insurance and interest charges? Add up the monthly payments if you are buying on time and find out how much the interest payments are going to be. When you do buy, always get a written receipt at the time of purchase.

The Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations has published a booklet titled Consumer tips for senior citizens, available from its Consumer Information Centre at 555 Yonge Street, Toronto, Ontario M7A 2H6.

Parliament

laws it wants, but they will be amended, repealed or replaced as this is felt necessary.

Sovereignty, according to the White Paper, means that Quebec will have an "inalienable" right to its own present provincial territory. The White Paper also makes oblique references to "gaining the advantages that would come to Quebec from its geographical position" and "ending the uncertainties that have surrounded the issue... of Labrador". This would seem to suggest that a sovereign Quebec would claim Labrador, which is now part of the Province of Newfoundland.

In the matter of citizenship, every resident of Quebec will become a Quebec citizen and every Canadian who was born in Quebec will have an automatic right to Quebec citizenship if he or she returns to live there. There will be separate Quebec passports for Quebec citizens but an agreement with Canada for a common passport is suggested.

The White Paper proposes that Quebec's continued association with Canada in any areas will be achieved as a result of negotiations resulting in a Treaty of Association. This Treaty will govern how this association will work and will establish the rules and institutions that will ensure the proper functioning of the Quebec - Canada community.

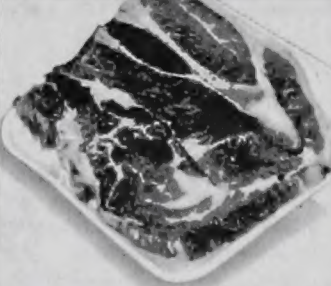

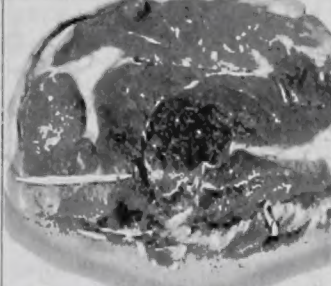

There will be no customs barriers between Quebec and Canada and the two countries will jointly establish the tariffs needed for dealing with other states. The two states will also permit the present free market to operate between them and will not discriminate against each other's product. There will be a monetary union in which both countries will continue to use the same currency. There will be a free circulation of people between the two states, which means that there will not be border guards and that a passport to go from one state to the other will not be required.

Prime Minister Clark responded to the Quebec White Paper by saying that he felt that direct Federal Government involvement in the referendum would probably not be useful and that the people of Quebec must first make their feelings known in the referendum. He said that the Federal Government has an obligation to be open and flexible and demonstrate that Federalism can be renewed; that the attitude and approach of the new Conservative Government in Ottawa has changed. He also reiterated that the legal position is that Quebec under the B.N.A. Act cannot unilaterally leave the Canadian Federation, but that the evidence is that the "hard" separation question will not be asked.
